EDUC 390: Classroom Management for Social and Emotional Learning

Field Experience Assignment(s):

The Classroom Management Observation Project

Based on detailed classroom observation guidelines, you will record classroom management strategies (both pro-active and reactive) that your clinical educator uses to (a) establish and maintain classroom order, focus student attention, and stimulate student motivation and (b) teach collaborative and social skills in the classroom. You will also initiate discussions with your clinical educator and your students to learn of their perceptions of the classroom climate/environment and what impacts its. You will use all that you’ve learned from both your field experience and our course to write reflections that require you to make connections between what is seen and experienced and to research and theory.
