March 1, 2016 5:00-6:00 pm Trabant Theatre, Trabant University Center
Dr. Stevenson’s recently published book, “Promoting Racial Literacy in Schools: Differences that Make a Difference” focuses on how to address racial conflicts and racial stress in educational contexts. His work provides strategies to classroom teachers, educational leaders, psychologists and parents on how to develop culturally relevant, strength-based responses and interventions that promote healthier school climates.

This lecture is free and open to the public. RSVP requested at http://www.udel.edu/csd/events/index.html

March 2, 2016 9:30-10:30 am
Workshop - Ewing Room, Perkins Student Center
This event is for faculty, graduate students, and staff to discuss what strategies have worked in developing racial literacy across different educational contexts.
RSVP requested at http://www.udel.edu/csd/events/index.html

CO-SPONSORED WITH THE COLLEGE OF EDUCATION & HUMAN DEVELOPMENT AND THE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION