FALL 2017

EDUC (EDUC 390): Classroom Management for Social and Emotional Learning

Field Experience Assignment(s):

Guided Observations of Classroom Management in the field:

To help teacher candidates focus on seeing strategies and issues that we have read about and discussed and to support their reflections and interview assignments, they will make focused observations and record these during the weeks that they are in their field placement. Teacher candidates will conduct a teacher interview and interview students as well. They will then be required to analyze all of their observations and interviews through the lens of our classroom readings and discussions.

Students in section 10 will have a choice as part of their final project for the course. One choice would involve videoing one of the lessons from EDUC 310, 335, 341, or 346 and analyzing classroom management decisions and practices in the video.
