SPRING 2019

EDUC 390: Classroom Management for Social and Emotional Learning

Field Experience Assignment(s):

The Classroom Management Observation Project

Based on classroom observation guidelines, you will record classroom management strategies (both pro-active and reactive) that your clinical educator uses to (a) establish and maintain classroom order, focus student attention, and stimulate student motivation and (b) teach collaborative and social skills in the classroom. You will also initiate discussions with your clinical educator and your students to learn of their perceptions of the classroom climate/environment and what impacts its. In your final week, you will video a lesson and analyze your own management practice. All of this will be used to write reflections that require you to make connections between what is seen and experienced to research and theory.
